Fundraising and Philanthropy Australasia (F&P) is the region's most respected source of information on the people, practice, trends and issues of fundraising and philanthropy.

F&P has the insight, analysis and ideas to help you raise more funds and improve your fundraising results through case studies; fundraising tips; commentary on emerging trends; interviews with industry thought leaders; strategic perspectives; and news and issues reportage.

You also know you are getting the most incisive coverage because our editorial advisory board, writers and specialist contributors are some of the most experienced and highly regarded leaders in the sector.

F&P reports on stories and news across a diverse range of nonprofit organisations including:

- charities
- disability
- arts/culture
- health/medical research
- aged care
- religious organisations
- the environment
- welfare
- trusts/foundations
- schools
- universities
- non-government and quasi-government organisations

Who Should Subscribe?

F&P is essential reading for anyone in a fundraising or philanthropic role including:

- Fundraising Executives
- Marketing Executives
- Direct Marketing Managers
- Chief Executive Officers
- Board Members
- Communications Executives
- Philanthropists
- Administrators of trusts and foundations
- Corporate Community Relations Executives
- School Principals
- Directors of Development
- Alumni Relations Managers

"Fundraising & Philanthropy Australasia Magazine (F&P) is an excellent resource for all my team. I subscribe to a number of other international fundraising publications however I find the information in F&P has much more relevance due to its Australasian context. Keep up the good work!"

Peter Moran, Senior Manager
Marketing, Fundraising & Communications,
Australian Red Cross

"The tag line on the cover of Fundraising & Philanthropy Australasia is "Insight, analysis and inspiration for nonprofit managers and executives". I believe that it has kept its promise and for this reason I will continue to subscribe to and enjoy reading it."

Jenni Elliott, Group Director, Fundraising & Marketing
Florey Neuroscience Institutes

Subscription Maxi - $119

(For 3 people)

Why choose Subscription Maxi?

- Subscription Maxi is designed so that multiple staff at your organisation can subscribe at a cost effective price.
- F&P aims to serve the information needs of a variety of people in your organisation, e.g. fundraising managers, marketing managers, chief executive officers and others
- No need to share one copy of the magazine which can get stuck in someone's in-tray for weeks. All subscribing staff will receive a copy mailed direct to their desk.
- No need to rely on one person receiving our Agenda e-bulletin and forwarding it on to others in your organisation. All subscribing staff will receive it direct to their inbox.
- Special password access for three of your staff to view all our archives and unique web content.

Standard Subscription - $99

(For 1 person)

Why choose a Standard Subscription?

If you are the sole person in your organisation involved in a fundraising or philanthropic role, this is the best option for you.

"The range of topics presented by experienced professionals in our industry provides real data and advice on every aspect of fundraising. We are all often bogged down with keeping abreast of fundraising issues of the day but Fundraising & Philanthropy Magazine is really a great read ensuring it goes to the top of the 'homework' pile!"
